Bandits Turned Christmas Into a Mockery, Biester Declares — Claims They Morally Murdered Three Men—Defendant's Girl Friend, Father, Other Relatives, Sit With Heads Bowed as Case is Summed Up

DOYLESTOWN, June 14—With testimony having been concluded Saturday morning in the case of David Darcy, charged with the slaying of William Kelly, 38, Feasterville, last December, District Attorney Edward Biester made his summation to the jury this morning, this requiring one hour. Defense attorneys offered no testimony.

In court this morning were Darcy's father and a number of other relatives, likewise Darcy's girl friend. Most of this group sat with heads bowed in hands during the summation.

The district attorney pointed out the "callousness of the wise-cracking, trigger-happy bandits." He said: "The conduct of this group was atrocious and vicious. Among the many things they did was to turn Christmas into a mockery by first holding up Feasterville Inn, and then wishing the people there a 'Merry Christmas' as they left two wounded inside, and then fled after mortally wounding an innocent bystander, William Kelly."

Biester argued to the jury that the shots fired out of the bandit car window as the group fled were fired deliberately at a group of men, of which Kelly was a member, in an effort to prevent pursuit. "What they did after leaving Feasterville compares favorably with a horror story. They had already morally murdered three men—William Kelly who died; Alan Hellerman, who is we will say 'partially dead'; and 'Eddie' Wunsch. One of the gang was musical. He played the piano. Another smart guy sang over the microphone. Then they returned to Philadelphia and when an officer approached them they gave up. They had their match. They were no longer big wheels."

The district attorney also pointed out to the jury members that they will have with them when they deliberate, confessions signed by Darcy and his companions. "The

SIGNALS' DISREGARD INCREASE DEATH TOLL

By J. Anthony Carrothers Traffic Engineer, National Conservation Bureau

This is the sixth of a series of 10 articles on street and highway safety, written by nationally recognized accident prevention specialists and published by this newspaper in the interests of greater traffic safety.

Only a fleeing criminal is likely to be reckless enough to disregard a highway patrolman's howling siren or a traffic policeman's whistle. Yet an appallingly large number of otherwise law-abiding motorists habitually drive through red lights, exceed posted speed limits and disobey other traffic control devices whenever they think they can get away with it.

About 24 per cent of all fatal accidents happen at intersections, another 12 per cent on curves. More than half of the drivers killed in grade-crossing accidents last year were disregarding warning signs and signals placed there to protect them.

The functions of traffic control devices are identical with those of enforcement officers — to regulate, warn and guide traffic — except that they cannot make arrests. Control devices can be very effective in reducing accidents, provided they are properly placed, properly designed — and properly obeyed.

Traffic control devices which regulate traffic are the strongest aids of authorities in their efforts to reduce accidents and increase the safety and convenience of drivers and pedestrians alike. The stop sign, the traffic light, the parking sign, the "no turn" sign and the speed limit sign are all regulatory devices. Violators of the directions given by these devices are punishable by fine in traffic court; they may also be punished far more terribly by injury or death.

WARMINSTER, Pa., June 14—Police said today that no charges would be preferred against a youngster who accidentally shot his 10-year-old sister in their Warmminster home.

The boy, Charles Appel, Jr., 11, pointed a .22-calibre rifle at his sister, Carol, and pulled the trigger. He said he didn't know the weapon was loaded.

Carol was taken to Abington Memorial Hospital with wounds of the abdomen and left arm, where blood plasma was administered.

Most of the town's volunteer firemen were at the hospital to offer blood for a transfusion and an arsonist seized the occasion to set fire to a vacant home in Warmminster.

Fire companies were called from Lacey Park, Hatboro and Horsham, but the home, owned by Louis Comito, was destroyed.

TREASURES REPLICAS OF BETSY ROSS KITCHEN

Mrs. Philip C. Ahier, Croydon, Has Model At Her Home

IS PRIZED POSSESSION

CROYDON, June 14—Flag day has come to mean more to Mrs. Philip C. Ahier, of Fifth avenue. She, for one, can look many times a day on a replica of the kitchen of the Betsy Ross home, in Philadelphia, a piece she greatly treasures.

The replica of the Betsy Ross kitchen was executed by Mrs. Ahier's brother-in-law, R. H. Ahier, of Winnipeg, Canada, who saw the original but once. And he has, by means of sketches he made on that one visit, followed in faithful detail the woodwork, the masonry and the furnishings which make up that historic kitchen. The replica, measuring 19 1/2 x 9 1/2 inches, has a place of honor in the Ahiers' living-room here.

R. H. Ahier had previously modeled a colonial kitchen for himself, and promised to execute a similar piece for Mrs. Philip C. Ahier, she to choose the one she wished copied. Her choice was the Betsy Ross kitchen. No doubt in that original kitchen, in the city of brotherly love, many hours of thought were given by Betsy to the flag she planned for her country. Mrs. Ahier's desire is to secure a miniature American flag with 13 stars to place in the tiny kitchen.

900 Attend 2 Services On Dedication Sunday

Upon the occasion of the dedication of the new Calvary Baptist Church and Sunday School building yesterday, there was a total attendance of 900 at the morning and evening services. The auditorium was filled on both occasions, but with ample parking space on both sides those who arrived by automobile found accommodations provided. Sunday School attendance on this auspicious occasion was 400.

The pastor, the Rev. Lehman Strauss, delivered the messages. During the morning service the choir sang "Send Out Thy Light" and "Soldiers of Christ Arise." Last evening former concert violinist John Toroni played several selections; and the choir members sang "Stranger of Galilee." Special numbers were also offered by a quartet composed of Jackson Bauer, Walter Kraft, Donald Nichols, and Elwood Dyer, Jr.

A number of mothers with small children made use of the "bawl" room, the sound-proof space with double glass, provided for their use. Amplifiers made it possible for the mothers to hear the entire service, with no fear of the children annoying others attending service. By next Sunday it is planned to have that room properly ventilated and some air-cooling arranged.

The first baptisms occurred last evening in the new pool. The four candidates were: Mr. and Mrs. Furman Miles and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson. Arrangements are being made for lighting of the parking area this week.

Services will continue each evening this week, starting at 7:30. This evening the Rev. Jack Murray will deliver the message.

34 Musical Units Add To The Gala Occasion; Crowds Jam Streets

BRUDON IS MARSHAL

Striking Contrast Shown In Fire-Fighting Equipment, Old and New

Six thousand men and women participated here Saturday in the annual parade of Bucks County Firemen's Association, which was one of the concluding features of the 35th annual convention. There were 34 musical units, 81 fire companies, 33 fire company auxiliaries, and 104 pieces of fire apparatus, in addition to chiefs' cars, ambulances, service trucks, and antique apparatus.

The head of the parade arrived at the reviewing stand at 2:42 p. m., and the last company passed that point at 6:03. Deducted from this would be approximately 35 minutes for delays, or actual time to pass one point 2 hrs., 46 minutes. Treviso Fire Company received a call at 4:55 p. m., and had to leave the line at the municipal building.

The parade was broadcast from the judges' stand by radio station WBUX, Doylestown and Quakertown.

There was striking contrast in fire-fighting equipment presented to the public's view, ranging all the way from hand-operated pumps drawn by horses and some by manpower, also steam pumps, to the most modern development of apparatus. At the time of starting the parade three bombs were released and the parade was on with the sun peeping occasionally through heavy clouds and showing the humidity higher and higher. There were dozens of heat prostration cases, and ambulances were kept on the run. An additional supply of cots and blankets to care for these cases was procured by the police department from the borough's decontamination building where war emergency equipment has been stored. The Allentown, N. J. Rescue Squad was on duty at the municipal building, answering emergency calls until such time as the Bucks County Rescue Squad had covered the line of march. The musical units consisted of drum and bugle corps, brass and string bands, one sound truck with recorded music, and a few individual string musicians.

Children got lost in the huge crowds which lined the side-walks in all sections of the borough. Unofficial estimates of the number of spectators were as high as 60,000. It's anybody's guess how many there actually were.

Robert P. Brudon, Bristol's veteran fireman of 99 years, and a past president of Bristol Fire Co., No. 1, of which he has been a member for 72 years, rode in a car at the head of the line, he serving as marshal. He was kept busy continually doffing his hat in appreciation of the plaudits of the crowd.

BOY NOT TO BE HELD IN SHOOTING OF HIS SISTER

Many Firemen Ready At Hospital to Give Blood Transfusions

(By International News Service)

WARMINSTER, Pa., June 14—Police said today that no charges would be preferred against a youngster who accidentally shot his 10-year-old sister in their Warminster home.

The boy, Charles Appel, Jr., 11, pointed a .22-caliber rifle at his sister, Carol, and pulled the trigger. He said he didn't know the weapon was loaded.

Carol was taken to Abington Memorial Hospital with wounds of the abdomen and left arm, where blood plasma was administered.

Most of the town's volunteer firemen were at the hospital to offer blood for a transfusion and an arsonist seized the occasion to set fire to a vacant home in Warminster.

Fire companies were called from Lacey Park, Hathor and Hershamb, but the home, owned by Louis Comito, was destroyed.

TREASURES REPLICAS OF BETSY ROSS KITCHEN

Mrs. Philip C. Ahler, Croydon, Has Model At Her Home

IS PRIZED POSSESSION

CROYDON, June 14—Flag day has come to mean more to Mrs. Philip C. Ahler, of Fifth avenue. She, for one, can look many times a day on a replica of the kitchen of the Betsy Ross home, in Philadelphia, a piece she greatly treasures.

The replica of the Betsy Ross kitchen was executed by Mrs. Ahler's brother-in-law, R. H. Ahler, of Winnipeg, Canada, who saw the original but once. And he has, by means of sketches he made on that visit, followed in faithful detail the woodwork, the masonry and the furnishings which make up that historic kitchen. The replica, measuring 19½x23½ inches, has a place of honor in the Ahlers' living-room here.

R. H. Ahler had previously modeled a colonial kitchen for himself, and promised to execute a similar piece for Mrs. Philip C. Ahler, she to choose the one she wished copied. Her choice was the Betsy Ross kitchen. No doubt in that original kitchen, in the city of brotherly love, many hours of thought were given by Betsy to the flag she planned for her country. Mrs. Ahler's desire is to secure a miniature American flag with 13 stars to place in the tiny kitchen.

900 Attend 2 Services

On Dedication Sunday

Upon the occasion of the dedication of the new Calvary Baptist Church and Sunday School building yesterday, there was a total attendance of 900 at the morning and evening services. The auditorium was filled on both occasions, but with ample parking space on both sides those who arrived by automobile found accommodations provided. Sunday School attendance on this auspicious occasion was 400.

The pastor, the Rev. Lehman Strauss, delivered the messages. During the morning service the choir sang "Send Out Thy Light" and "Soldiers of Christ Arise." Last evening former concert violinist John Toroni played several selections; and the choir members sang "Stranger of Galilee." Special numbers were also offered by a quartet composed of Jackson Bauer, Walter Kraft, Donald Nichols, and Elwood Dyer, Jr.

A number of mothers with small children made use of the "bowl" room, the sound-proof space with double glass, provided for their use. Amplifiers made it possible for the mothers to hear the entire service, with no fear of the children annoying others attending service. By next Sunday it is planned to have that room properly ventilated and some air-cooling arranged.

The first baptisms occurred last evening in the new pool. The four candidates were: Mr. and Mrs. Furman Miles and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson. Arrangements are being made for lighting of the parking area this week.

Services will continue each evening this week, starting at 7.5. This evening the Rev. Jack Murray will deliver the message.

34 Musical Units Add To The Gala Occasion; Crowds Jam Streets

Striking Contrast Shown In Fire-Fighting Equipment, Old and New

Six thousand men and women participated here Saturday in the annual parade of Bucks County Firemen's Association, which was one of the concluding features of the 35th annual convention. There were 34 musical units, 81 fire companies, 33 fire company auxiliaries, and 101 pieces of fire apparatus, in addition to chiefs' cars, ambulances, service trucks, and antique apparatus.

The head of the parade arrived at the reviewing stand at 2.42 p. m., and the last company passed that point at 6.03. Deducted from this would be approximately 35 minutes for delays, or actual time to pass one point 2 hrs., 46 minutes. Trevose Fire Company received a call at 4.55 p. m., and had to leave the line at the municipal building. The parade was broadcast from the judges' stand by radio station WHUX, Doylestown and Quakertown.

There was striking contrast in fire-fighting equipment presented to the public's view, ranging all the way from hand-operated pumps drawn by horses and some by manpower, also steam pumps, to the most modern development of apparatus. At the time of starting the parade three bombs were released and the parade was on with the sun peeping occasionally through heavy clouds and showing the humidity higher and higher. There were dozens of heat prostration cases, and ambulances were kept on the run. An additional supply of cots and blankets to care for these cases was procured by the police department from the borough's decontamination building where war emergency equipment has been stored. The Allentown, N. J. Rescue Squad was on duty at the municipal building, answering emergency calls until such time as the Bucks County Rescue Squad had covered the line of march. The musical units consisted of drum and bugle corps, brass and string bands, one sound truck with recorded music, and a few individual string musicians.

Children got lost in the huge crowds which lined the sidewalks in all sections of the borough. Unofficial estimates of the number of spectators were as high as 60,000. It's anybody's guess how many there actually were.

Robert P. Brudon, Bristol's veteran fireman of 90 years, and a past president of Bristol Fire Co., No. 1, of which he has been a member for 72 years, rode in a car at the head of the line, he serving as marshal. He was kept busy continually doffing his hat in appreciation of the plaudits of the crowd.

Summer Music Courses Approved By School Board

Courses in music will be held this summer from June 28 until August 25th at Bristol high school. This instruction is offered to people of any age who are interested in the types of music classes being held. There is no charge for borough residents, except a deposit, which will be returned if the person enrolled attends three-fourths of the scheduled classes. This deposit is $2.00 for persons of school age and $5.00 for those above school age. There is a tuition fee for residents outside of Bristol borough of $8.00 per course. It is quite likely also that persons enrolling for class vocal instruction may be charged a fee of a dollar to provide for an accompanist for class work.

Persons may still apply however, up to and including the registration date of June 28. Registering and payment of fees will take place at the school on June 28, from 9 to 12 noon, for all those attending day classes, and Monday evening at seven o'clock for evening students.

THE FLAG

The true significance of the national colors is sometimes lost on citizens pre-occupied with their own interests and pursuits. This is one of the reasons why the nation observes Flag Day.

Few slight the flag in the fervor and excitement of war, but when peace comes there are those, all too many in number, who relax into indifference. To the Yanks in Europe, the Pacific and at other far-flung bastions around the world, in the presence of war's devastation, the flag was the representation of all they held dear. Through its magic bond, spanning thousands of miles, home, family and country were always with them.

In keeping with patriotic traditions, Flag Day should see Old Glory waving from every building. It should be emphasized anew that the flag, symbol of the spirit of Americanism, bears an importance for each that is intrinsic to our way of life.

OUTGUESSING THE STORK

Last year the United States had the biggest baby crop in history—3,908,000 live births. That has started speculation again on population trends in this country. And it has raised anew the question of what is the economic optimum population for the United States. From a study of population predictions of the past, it appears that forecasting population trends is about as uncertain as long range weather forecasting. "At the present time," according to the Population Reference Bureau, Washington, D. C., "it seems that the one forecast which will hit the census count of 1950 right on the nose is that made as early as 1921 by the late Prof. Raymond Pearl of Johns Hopkins University and his associate, Prof. Lowell J. Reed, and published by Pearl in 1925.

The Pearl-Reed forecast was for a population of 148,678,000 in 1950. With a present population of 144,000,000, the prospect is that the 1950 census may be slightly higher than this prediction. But it is much closer than others.

A population curve plotted by Dr. Louis I. Dublin, statistician of a large life insurance company, indicated the population, without immigration, would reach a maximum of about 148,000,000 by 1970, and then would decrease to about 140,000,000 by the year 2000 and to about 76,000,000 by the year 2100.

Dr. O. E. Baker, former president of the Association of American Geographers and senior agriculturalist of the Department of Agriculture, in 1934, predicted a maximum population of 132,000,000 by 1948, with a decrease to 98,000,000 by 1990.

Where many of the population forecasts have gone wrong is on their estimates of birth rate trends. Instead of declining, the birth rate has been going up. But the experts do not expect that to continue. Many of them believe the U. S. population is too large now.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol April 28, 1898. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

EMILIE—The Teachers Institute on Friday last, was a very successful affair, over 150 persons being in attendance. Superintendent Slotter and Colonel Passmore, of Philadelphia, addressed the audience. The essays read by Miss Hykes and Miss Clark, were particularly note-worthy. A miniature volcano manipulated by a scholar from Newportville, was very pleasing to children.

Penn Valley asparagus growers began cutting their asparagus this week. The most of it is shipped to New York, where it sells better than that of any other section, not excepting the famous Oyster Bay district of Long Island. It sold in New York for $6 per dozen bunches.

TULLYTOWN—Monday, the 25th instant, was the banner day of the season thus far at the fishery of Mr. John Burton. Captain William Lovett reports a catch of over 500 shad on the above date.

The Rev. S. M. Hatchkin, of Bustleton, the author of "The Bristol Pike," has presented a copy of that work to the Bristol library. It is a handsome quarto volume of 466 pages, and is the history, succinctly told, of many of the old families and notable places, between Frankford and Morrisville. The work is freely illustrated with engravings of prominent buildings and places.

Joseph W. Shelly, chairman of the Republican county committee, has announced Dr. C. D. Frey, Sellersville; Henry Lear, Doylestown; George C. Worstall, Newtown; Joseph R. Grundy, Bristol, and Chairman Shelly for congressional conferences.

The body of Miss Nellie Fields, who was drowned on the fourth of last February, while crossing the river in a sleigh on the ice from Burlington, was found at half past eight o'clock Friday evening by Thomas Myers, just below a point among the rocks. Myers is the lookout at the Badger fishery who proceeds at the net as it is hauled in from across the river, to see that everything is clear. When near the point he saw the body come to the surface from where it is supposed it had been caught among the many rocks.

(Following from the Gazette of May 5, 1898)

HULMEVILLE—Mr. William Noon, "the Indian's friend," was observed on Sunday last, leading a large number of his red-skinned friends through Hulmeville. It is reported that "Bill" is contemplating organizing an Indian company to go to Cuba.

The new system of catching and delivering mails from the same crane by a moving train went into effect this morning on this division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Instead of throwing the mail pouch out the door of the car, running the risk of its rebounding underneath the coaches and having the contents destroyed, the pouch is held securely on the crane.

The Allemania Verein intend erecting a flag pole at their club house, on Jefferson avenue and Forge road, and will fly the Stars and Stripes there from.

Charles Matthews has rented the shops at Newportville, formerly occupied by E. B. Rose, and is going to build and repair all kinds of vehicles.

The erection of Rumpf's cotton coverlet manufactory at Eden, is progressing rapidly. The store is being blasted out of the ground near the mill for use in its construction. The mill is located directly back of the trolley car barns at that point.

The dwelling at No. 405 Radcliffe street, belonging to the estate of the late Elizabeth H. Paxson, was offered at public sale last Saturday and sold to John C. Stuckert for $2300.

The auxiliary was in line, Pennington Road Co. of Ewing, N. J., and auxiliary; then West Trenton, N. J.; Marlboro, N. J. Long Branch, N. J. Wissahickon Fire Co. of Ambler with auxiliary followed. The latter company had an old steamer drawn by two white horses. Highland Fire Co. of Pitman, N. J., was accompanied by a drum corps, and it had a contrast in the "long and short" of it in firemen, the heights being 3'4" and 6'7". Next was Browns Mills, N. J. Co.

Ninth division was the last in line, with White Horse Co., N. J., having its own band and auxiliary in natty uniforms. Apparatus of Bristol Consolidated, Bristol Fire Co. No. 1; America Hose, Hook and Ladder Co., No. 2; Goodwill Fire Co., No. 3, and Smoketown Auxiliary; and Bristol Fire Co., No. 6, ended the groups in line.

Comments On The Firemen's Parade

Park Saturday night. Children lost were restored to their parents. Visitors from afar were put into touch with residents from their home communities and got transportation home.

It is said that "everybody loves a parade." Members of council viewing the parade from a stand certainly appeared to be enjoying themselves. Other council committees tried to induce chairman of health and sanitation committee, Richard T. Myers, to stage a garbage collectors' parade and convention here next year. The idea was "smelled" out.

Committeemen handling the convention Friday night and the parade on Saturday certainly are entitled to "a big hand" of applause. They had a big job, went at it, stuck to it and got results. Many of the meetings were "knock-down and drag-out affairs" but they certainly put over the job in an excellent manner. The comment of visitors was nothing but praise.

As "Bill" Stackhouse, president of the Bucks County Firemen's Association, stood in front of the municipal building as the fire companies began to arrive, he said: "This is going to be a BIG parade." And it surely was BIG.

The Special Police under Chief "Jack" Lynn and the fire police of the Bucks County Fire Police Association worked hard and contributed much in expediting the affair.

One youngster was lost after the parade but he got a ride from the Courier office to police headquarters in a police car and was later restored to his parents. A big grin replaced his tears as he was given a seat between two friendly "cops."

"Doc" Hendricks, a former resident of Bristol, acknowledged greetings of his boyhood friends as he piloted the apparatus of Liberty Hose Co., Red Bank, N. J.

Two girls after the parade were seen walking barefoot in the grass plots in the sixth ward section, cooling their tootsies.

Chief Clifford Hagerman grabbed a chair after the parade and that five-mile stretch. "What did you think of it?" he asked. "Some parade!"

Trevose Fire Company left the parade Saturday when the roof of a house in Trevose caught fire. There was one piece of equipment on duty in the Trevose fire station and men responded at once to the call. But a call was put through to Bristol summoning another piece of equipment as a precautionary measure. The service was not needed. A hole was burned in the roof.

William L. Stackhouse, president of Bucks County Firemen's Association: "It was the biggest parade the county association has ever had. The annual parade is a feature of the association and it grows from year to year. The companies in the association are growing rapidly and expanding and the parades are being planned long in advance. All firemen get behind them.

"Many remarked to me about the excellent manner in which the Bristol police handled traffic and the parade. The 'no parking' along the route of the parade was exceptionally fine, and everything was well in hand. The police deserve a lot of credit.

"I also heard a lot of comment about the good condition of the streets over which the parade marched. They were hard surfaced and easy to march on."

Refreshments at Memorial Park field were exhausted before two groups had been served. They were escorted to two fire stations and there were served "eats" and enjoyed the hospitality until a late hour.

Police thought they had a skull fracture case on their hands Saturday afternoon when a Morrisville fireman arrived at the police station, bleeding profusely from the head and seeking help. He informed that a girl, armed with a big lolly-pop, had hit him, his hat failing to repel the force of the blow. Police administered first aid.

A few Perkasie firemen and retired firemen who remained in their home town for any emergency, extinguished a small fire in that community at two p. m., Saturday. They utilized the one piece of apparatus which had been kept in the fire station. The fire occurred on the property of John Mayes, Perkasie contractor. Mrs. Mayes was burning rubbish at the rear of Mr. May's brick office. A frame lean-to attached ignited. Firemen did good work, with little damage resulting.

Into the huge flag carried by members of Burlington, N. J., fire department, spectators tossed coins and bills to the amount of $51. The firemen turned this money over to the Burlington V. F. W. Girl Cadet drum and bugle corps, which unit accompanied the Burlington department in the parade.

Two babies were baptised yesterday by the Rev. John C. Kulp, pastor of Neshaminy Methodist Church. At the Children's Day service in the morning he baptised William James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harper, Bensalem township; and in the afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Blackshire, Middletown township, he baptised the Blackshires' son, John Francis. Children and young folks participated in the exercises yesterday morning. The call to worship and the prayer of confession at the combined church service and Sunday School was by Marian Sutton; the junior choir sang "Hear Us"; song, "It's Children's Day," Frank Riley; responsive scripture, lead by June Fowler; scripture lesson, Alice Jane Rongley; anthem, youth choir; song, "The Reason," primary department; solo, "The Lord's Prayer," Marian Voorhees; children's sermon on the miracle of the five loaves and two fishes, the pastor. THE FLAG

The true significance of the national colors is sometimes lost on citizens pre-occupied with their own interests and pursuits. This is one of the reasons why the nation observes Flag Day.

Few slight the flag in the fervor and excitement of war, but when peace comes there are those, all too many in number, who relax into indifference. To the Yanks in Europe, the Pacific and at other far-flung bastions around the world, in the presence of war's devastation, the flag was the representation of all they held dear. Through its magic bond, spanning thousands of miles, home, family and country were always with them.

In keeping with patriotic traditions, Flag Day should see Old Glory waving from every building. It should be emphasized anew that the flag, symbol of the spirit of Americanism, bears an importance for each that is intrinsic to our way of life.

OUTGUESSING THE STORK

Last year the United States had the biggest baby crop in history—3,908,000 live births. That has started speculation again on population trends in this country. And it has raised anew the question of what is the economic optimum population for the United States.

From a study of population predictions of the past, it appears that forecasting population trends is about as uncertain as long range weather forecasting. "At the present time," according to the Population Reference Bureau, Washington, D. C., "it seems that the one forecast which will hit the census count of 1950 right on the nose is that made as early as 1921 by the late Prof. Raymond Pearl of Johns Hopkins University and his associate, Prof. Lowell J.
Reed, and published by Pearl in 1925.

The Pearl-Reed forecast was for a population of 148,678,000 in 1950. With a present population of 144,000,000, the prospect is that the 1950 census may be slightly higher than this prediction. But it is much closer than others.

A population curve plotted by Dr. Louis I. Dublin, statistician of a large life insurance company, indicated the population, without immigration, would reach a maximum of about 148,000,000 by 1970, and then would decrease to about 140,000,000 by the year 2000 and to about 76,000,000 by the year 2100.

Dr. O. E. Baker, former president of the Association of American Geographers and senior agri-culturalist of the Department of Agriculture, in 1934, predicted a maximum population of 132,000,- 000 by 1948; with a decrease to 98,000,000 by 1990.

Where many of the population forecasts have gone wrong is on their estimates of birth rate trends. Instead of declining, the birth rate has been going up. But the experts do not expect that to continue. Many of them believe the U. S. population is too large now.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol April 28, 1898. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

EMILIE—The Teachers Institute on Friday last, was a very successful affair, over 150 persons being in attendance. Superintendent Slottor and Colonel Passmore, of Philadelphia, addressed the audience. The essays read by Miss Hykes and Miss Clark, were particularly note-worthy. A miniature volcano manipulated by a scholar from Newportville, was very pleasing to children.

Penn Valley asparagus growers began cutting their asparagus this week. The most of it is shipped to New York, where it sells better than that of any other section, not excepting the famous Oyster Bay district of Long Island. It sold in New York for $6 per dozen bunches.

TULLYTOWN—Monday, the 25th instant, was the banner day of the season thus far at the fishery of Mr. John Burton. Captain William Lovett reports a catch of over 500 shad on the above date.

The Rev. S. M. Hatchkin, of Bustleton, the author of "The Bristol Pike," has presented a copy of that work to the Bristol Library.
It is a handsome quarto volume of 400 pages, and is the history, succinctly told, of many of the old families and notable places, between Frankford and Morrisville.
The work is freely illustrated with engravings of prominent buildings and places.

Joseph W. Shelly, chairman of the Republican county committee, has announced Dr. C. D. Fretz, Sellersville; Henry Lear, Doylestown; George C. Worstall, Newtown; Joseph R. Grundy, Bristol, and Chairman Shelly for congressional conference.

The body of Miss Nellie Fields, who was drowned on the fourth of last February, while crossing the river in a sleigh on the ice from Burlington, was found at half past eight o'clock Friday evening by Thomas Myers, just below a point among the rocks. Myers is the lookout at the Badger fishery who precedes the net as it is hauled in from across the river, to see that everything is clear. When near the point he saw the body come to the surface from where it is supposed it had been caught among the many rocks.

(Following from the Gazette of May 5, 1898)

HULMEVILLE—Mr. William Noon, "the Indian's friend," was observed on Sunday last, leading a large number of his red-skinned friends through Hulmeville. It is reported that "Bill" is contemplating organizing an Indian company to go to Cuba.

The new system of catching and delivering mails from the same crane by a moving train went into effect this morning on this division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Instead of throwing the mail pouch out the door of the car, running the risk of its rebounding underneath the coaches and having the contents destroyed, the pouch is held securely on the crane.

The Allemania Verein intend ereciting a flag pole at their club house, on Jefferson avenue and Forge road, and will fly the Stars and Stripes there from.

Charles Matthews has rented the shops at Newportville, formerly occupied by E. B. Rose, and is going to build and repair all kinds of vehicles.

The erection of Rumpff's cotton coverlet manufactory at Eden, is progressing rapidly. The store is being blasted out of the ground near the mill for use in its construction. The mill is located directly back of the trolley car barns at that point.

The dwelling at No. 405 Radcliffe street, belonging to the estate of the late Elizabeth H. Paxson, was offered at public sale last Saturday and sold to John C. Stuckert for $2300.

Six Thousand Participate In County Firemen's Parade

Color guard of Bristol ex-servicemen, all of whom had seen overseas service, was followed by the chiefs of various Bristol companies, and then the Philadelphia Police and Firemen's Band. Officials of Bucks County Firemen's Association followed in a station wagon.

The Bucks County Rescue Squad listed 52 cases of heat prostration along the line of march, and at the field; one girl fell of heat exhaustion on Mill street and suffered abrasions of the knees; five cases were handled at the Harriman Hospital; one case was treated by a local physician and five cases were treated at the municipal building.

The fireworks display on Memorial Park field Saturday evening was somewhat marred by a thunder shower which broke at the start of the display. There was a huge crowd assembled—streets, the field and every available parking spot were jammed. Due to the weather conditions the display had to be rushed through.

The judges and the Philadelphia Police and Firemen's Band were entertained at dinner Saturday evening at Sottung's Cafe, Croydon.

It was a glittering spectacle with almost a total absence of the redshirted fireman of yesteryears. The string bands in their scintillating uniforms added much in the way of glitter and sparkle, while the brilliant red of the apparatus gave a striking contrast.

The cadets of Chester W. Terchon Post, VFW, and Bracken Post, American Legion, put on magnificent exhibition drills at the Memorial Park field previous to the fireworks display.

Quakertown Fire Company, which was host to the county association last year, led the first division, with a band and auxiliary. They had two pieces of apparatus in line. Following was Union Company of Morrisville, with auxiliary and the Sanford-Diletto Post, American Legion, drum and bugle corps. William Penn Fire Co. of Hulmeville, with hand-drawn "Billy Penn" pumper of 1837, and the auxiliary followed in farmer and farmette costumes.

The "hecker" firemen, garbed in overalls and straw hats, extinguished a paper bonfire at the judges' stand, as some of the firemen operated the hand pumper. The musical unit accompanying them was the Jesse W. Soby Post Cadet Drum & Bugle Corps of Langhorne. The auxiliary members rode in a rack-wagon. Midway Fire Co. of Lahaska was next with members of the auxiliary riding in six jeeps driven tandem style. Yardley Company No.
1 had a new apparatus in line, and was accompanied by Robert Bracken Post Cadet Drum & Bugle Corps of Bristol; Newport Fire Co., No. 1, of Bensalem Township, had two pieces of apparatus in line; Trevese

Fire Company had the oldest tank wagon in Bucks County entered in the parade. Rustling Hose Co. of Hamilton Township, N. J., had as a musical organization the Bordentown, N. J., Cadets. Newtown Fire Co., No. 1, made a striking appearance and had as musicians members of the American Legion 8r. band. The firemen walked four abreast with hands resting on shoulders of the firemen next to them. The Auxiliary was also included.

The second division was headed by Capitol View of Morrisville, with auxiliary, also Osmond Post Cadet corps. Headed by Terchon Post Cadets, Bucks County Rescue Squad had three ambulances, a floodlight truck and boat in line. A jeep listed the squad as the "Firemen's Friend".

Chalfont Chemical Co., No. 1, Union Fire Co. of Cornwells Heights, followed, the latter having the word "Union" spelled out in red roses on the ladder at the side of a truck.
Trumbauersville Fire Co. No. 1 had its auxiliary. The Alert Hook & Ladder Co. of Phillipsburg, N. J., was accompanied by the Aqua String Band, of Philadelphia, the members of the band wearing cornucopia headresses signifying "Fruit of Plenty." The "Alert Juniors," a group of boys with red suspenders as part of their uniforms, drew a miniature fire fighting apparatus. The auxiliary was also in line. Wrightstown, N. J., Company had for musicians the members of Johnson Memorial Cadet Corps; and Newportville Company, No. 1, was also entered. Next was Pennington, N. J., with a hand-drawn hose cart the "power" being provided by auxiliary members.

Third division was led by Doylestown Fire Co., No. 1, with the Fire Fighters String Band of Philadelphia in red and white satin uniforms, each player wearing a black-eyed susan. Plumsteadville was also entered, likewise Eagle Company of New Hope. Bound Brook, N. J., was accompanied by the Bound Brook Drum and Bugle Corps. Barren Hill Co. was next.
There followed Union Fire Co. of Mt. Holly, N. J., with auxiliary, and Riverside String Band. The band members wore natty black western type uniforms and modified sombrero. Richlandtown Volunteer Fire Co. was accompanied by its junior drum and bugle corps. The girls of this corps wore white blouses and red and blue plaid skirts. Men in the company wore blue uniforms with bright red ties, the auxiliary members' tailored costumes being of navy blue and having red piping. Liberty Hose Co. of Red Bank, N. J., and auxiliary, was followed by Croydon Fire Co., No. 1, and Croydon String Band.
The band having been organized three weeks ago. The 28 players wore dunkarees, red plaid shirts, and straw hats. The auxiliary was included, also emergency car and boat, and a jeep pumper.

Leading the fourth division was South Langhorne Fire Co. of Penndel, with the Fire Fighters String

Band, organized three months ago, being composed of girls and boys.
The auxiliary was also in line.
Richboro Fire Company was followed by Delaware Valley Fire Co. of Erwinna, with auxiliary members on a float. Groveville, N. J., Fire Co., had the Mitchell Davis Colored Drum and Bugle Corps (A.
L.); and Hamilton Township, N. J., Fire Co. entered a ladder truck and pumper. An outstanding unit in this division was Beverly Co., No. 1 of Beverly, N. J., all uniforms and apparatus being in green and white, corresponding with the uniforms of MacFarland Post drum and bugle corps which headed the group. Dublin Fire Co. had an all-girl string band. Burlington Fire Dept. included Endeavor Co., No. 1, and Neptune Company. Their musical organization was the V. F. W. all-girl corps of Burlington Post No. 1817. White Horse, N. J., followed.

Division five was headed by Bell-mawr Park, N. J., Co., with auxiliary; then came Fallsington Fire Co., with Morrisville high school band; next being Easterville Fire Co. A combination of units was Soll-Park from Sellersville and Perkasie, with auxiliaries, also Citizens Band of Quakertown. The capes of the women, fastened together in back revealed the word "Sell" on one side and "Park" on the other. The Perseverance Fire Co. of Souderton, with Souderton high school band was next, also the auxiliary. This group included among its apparatus a 1918 Ford engine. Humane and Hope Company of Bordentown, N. J., was entered also; likewise Point Pleasant Co.; then Narberth Fire Co., and the VMSC ambulance of Narberth; then came Norris Hose Co., of Norristown, this company being over 100 years old. Seventeen of the marching men carried bouquets of red and white carnations with green fern. This group also had a band, Union Rescue Squad of Washington Crossing - Titusville, N. J., was in line with rescue equipment and marching unit.

Starting the sixth division was Freehold, N. J., Fire Co., with band; followed by Fairmont Co. of Lansdale with a high school drum corps;
then Warrington Township Fire Co.; next Cornwells Fire Co., No. 1, Cornwells Heights, accompanied by auxiliary and headed by the East Germantown V. F. W. Cadet drum and bugle corps. This unit did some clever drilling in front of the judges' stand. Four little firemen, aged about three or four years, wearing firemen's tailored uniforms, and each clasping the hand of the other, received a big hand.
Trevese Heights Fire Co., No. 1, was in line; also Handley Manor Fire Co. of Edgely, with rescue truck, etc., and the auxiliary members riding on a float. Mercerville, N. J., fire department was accompanied by its auxiliary; and Sayreville, N. J., Fire Co., by Bristol high school band. This company also entered a comic unit, two men pulling by means of very thick ropes miniature fire engines. Two white horses drew a hand pumper of 1842 vintage. Parkland Fire Co. entered a jeep with a dummy fireman on the rear, and the auxiliary was likewise in the parade. Next came North Penn Fire Co. of North Wales with auxiliary.

Division seven included: Lingdocken Fire Co., of Wycombe and auxiliary; Riverton, N. J., Fire Co., with the Comet String Band of Philadelphia in scintillating costumes of two-tone blue and satin and silver. Their drilling at the judges' stand between rows of firemen elicited rounds of applause.
Silverdale Volunteer Fire Dept. was next; then Orland Fire Co. with band and auxiliary; Edgington Fire Co., No. 1, the tank wagon of this company with built in pumper being assembled entirely by firemen themselves from army equipment.
The auxiliary featured a baby dressed as a fireman complete with red hat and riding in a stroller. A large bell at the front of the stroller made it a "fire apparatus." The Golden Slipper String Band of Philadelphia had headgear of large vari-colored tulips. Folk dances were executed by young folks in farmer and farmette costumes. A hay rack drawn by two white horses was included. Southampton Fire Co.; then Goodwill of Penber-ton, N. J., with an 1801 pumper mounted on a truck followed. The Adelphia, N. J., Co., had its auxiliary.

The eighth division had at its head, Tullytown Fire Company; then came Deep Water Fire Co., of Lower Penns Neck, N. J., with Hobo Band. The band staged a "sit-down strike" at the judges' stand, playing while looting on the ground.
They requested the spectators to sing to their accompaniment "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." The auxiliary was in line. Pennington Road Co. of Ewing, N. J., and auxiliary; then West Trenton, N. J.; Marlboro, N. J., Long Branch, N. J., Wissahickon Fire Co. of Ambler with auxiliary followed. The latter company had an old steamer drawn by two white horses. Highland Fire panied by a drum corps, and it had a contrast in the "long and short" of it in firemen, the heights being 3'4" and 6'7". Next was Brown Mills, N. J., Co.

Ninth division was the last in line, with White Horse Co., N. J., having its own band and auxiliary in natty uniforms. Apparatus of Bristol Consolidated, Bristol Fire

Ladder Co., No. 2; Goodwill Fire Co., No. 3, and Smoketown Auxiliary; and Bristol Fire Co., No. 6, ended the groups in line.

Comments On The Firemen's Parade

Park Saturday night. Children lost were restored to their parents.
Visitors from afar were put into touch with residents from their home communities and got transportation home.

It is said that "everybody loves a parade." Members of council viewing the parade from a stand certainly appeared to be enjoying themselves. Other council committees tried to induce chairman of health and sanitation committee, Richard T. Myers, to stage a garbage collectors' parade and convention here next year. The idea was "smelled" out.

Committeemen handling the convention Friday night and the parade on Saturday, certainly are entitled to "a big hand" of applause. They had a big job, went at it, stuck to it and got results. Many of the meetings were "knock-down and drag-out affairs" but they certainly put over the job in an excellent manner. The comment of visitors was nothing but praise.

As "Bill" Stackhouse, president of the Bucks County Firemen's Association, stood in front of the municipal building as the fire companies began to arrive, he said: "This is going to be a big parade." And it surely was BIG.

The Special Police under Chief "Jack" Lynn and the fire police of the Bucks County Fire Police Association worked hard and contributed much in expediting the affair.

One youngster was lost after the parade but he got a ride from the Courier office to police headquarters in a police car and was later restored to his parents. A big grin replaced his tears as he was given a seat between two friendly "cops."

"Doc" Hendricks, a former resident of Bristol, acknowledged greetings of his boyhood friends as he piloted the apparatus of Liberty Hose Co., Red Bank, N. J.

Two girls after the parade were seen walking barefoot in the grass plots in the sixth ward section, cooling their toes.

Chief Clifford Hagerman grabbed a chair after the parade and that five-mile stretch. "What did you think of it?" he asked. "Some parade!"

parade Saturday when the roof of a house in Trevese caught fire. There was one piece of equipment on duty in the Trevese fire station and men responded at once to the call. But a call was put through to Bristol summoning another piece of equipment as a precautionary measure.
The service was not needed. A hole was burned in the roof.

William L. Stackhouse, president of Bucks County Firemen's Association: "It was the biggest parade the county association has ever had.
The annual parade is a feature of the association and it grows from year to year. The companies in the association are growing rapidly and expanding and the parades are being planned long in advance. All firemen get behind them.

"Many remarked to me about the excellent manner in which the Bristol police handled traffic and the parade. The 'no parking' along the route of the parade was exceptionally fine, and everything was well in hand. The police deserve a lot of credit."

"I also heard a lot of comment about the good condition of the streets over which the parade marched. They were hard surfaced and easy to march on."

Refreshments at Memorial Park field were exhausted before two groups had been served. They were escorted to two fire stations and there were served "eats" and enjoyed the hospitality until a late hour.

Police thought they had a skull fracture case on their hands Saturday afternoon when a Morrisville fireman arrived at the police station, bleeding profusely from the head and seeking help. He informed that a girl, armed with a big lolly-pop, had hit him, his hat falling to revel the force of the blow. Police administered first aid.

A few Perkaskie firemen and retired firemen who remained in their home town for any emergency, extinguished a small fire in that community at two p. m. Saturday. They utilized the one piece of apparatus which had been kept in the fire station. The fire occurred on the property of John Mayes, Perkaskie contractor. Mrs. Mayes was burning rubbish at the rear of Mr. May's brick office. A frame lean-to was partially ignited. Firemen did good work, with little damage resulting.

Into the huge flag carried by members of Burlington, N. J., fire department, spectators tossed coins and bills to the amount of $51. The firemen turned this money over to the Burlington V. F. W. Girl Cadet drum and bugle corps, which unit accompanied the Burlington department in the parade.

Versatile Scrambled Eggs

Creamy scrambled eggs are appropriate for almost any occasion. They make a delicious breakfast, a quick supper or a hearty mid-night snack.

For tender, fluffy scrambled eggs, try cooking them in a porcelain enameled double boiler. The eggs are less likely to be overcooked because the water in the bottom part of the boiler assures constant, low heat. Porcelain enameled double boilers are designed with slightly rounded corners so that foods may be easily stirred.

SCRAMBLED EGGS FOR FOUR: Break 6 eggs into mixing bowl. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon pepper. (If desired, 6 tablespoons cream or milk may be added.) Blend with fork or beater. Pour into upper part of double boiler set over hot water. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently away from sides and bottom of pan. Continue cooking until eggs are thick and creamy. Serve immediately.

SCRAMBLED EGG VARIATIONS: 1. When eggs begin to thicken, add 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento, 2 tablespoons chopped chives and 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. 2. Sauté diced frankfurters, luncheon meat, chicken livers or mushrooms. Add to eggs just before they are done. 3. Add a generous sprinkling of grated cheese when eggs begin to set.

ANDALUSIA

Jack Kidd, U. S. Navy, Corpus Christie, Texas, is spending a leave with Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kidd. Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Eisenhart and children, Wilmet and Ruth, have moved from Poquessing avenue to Philadelphia.

Charles Osterman and Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Bracklin, attended the state convention of Lions clubs at Reading, on Tuesday. Mr. Osterman and Mr. Bracklin were delegates from the Andalusia Lions club.

On Tuesday, William Salus, deputy district governor and secretary of the Tacony-Mayfair Lions club, which club was sponsor of Andalusia club, was elected governor of district 14-A.

On Tuesday evening, several members of the Andalusia Lions club were guests of the Philadelphia Electric Company, on a tour of inspection of the new South-west plant at Port Richmond. A ham dinner was served.

Richard F. Bracklin Jr., entertained several friends at a party on Thursday afternoon, in honor of his fifth birthday anniversary. Ice cream, cake and cookies were served to Virginia Bennett, Lee Jackson, Mary and "Judy" Hodgson, Beverly Radeski, Joan and Gloria Robinson, Carol and Barbara Meehan, James and John Brown, Thomas and James McCarty, Lawrence Freese, Dennis Erbrick. The children spent the afternoon playing games.

The Mother's Chalet Auxiliary held its monthly meeting last week at the home of Mrs. Marion Rupp. The attending. Discussion centered on the fact that the Scouts have no place to meet during the summer months, inasmuch as their former meeting place, the Andalusia school, is closed for the summer. Mrs. Paul Dean was welcomed as a new member as was Mrs. Edna Ferguson. Several members, who have made their quota of $10 through various activities, turned their money in at this time. They are Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Hughes and

Mrs. Kieffer. Plans were completed for a dessert card party to be held in the Union Fire Co. station June 16, at 12:30 p. m. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James Doneker.

Treasures Replica Of Betsy Ross Kitchen

Only two weeks time was required by Mr. Ahler to complete the replica. The admirer of the work cannot help but marvel at the attractive setting in a mahogany case. The floor is carved of wood and painted to imitate bricks; while the ceiling is mahogany, with pegged beams just as they appear in the original. The eye is quickly attracted to the fire place, blackened as though from many a friendly fire (in fact a blaze burns beneath the tiny logs). And over the fire on a crane, swings a metal pot and a copper tea kettle. So true to type do these items run that the crane actually swings, and the handle on the tea-kettle moves back and forth.

A rectangular table is set with the tiniest of cups and saucers, pitcher and other items. So small are the cups, that metal the thickness of a straight pin was used for handles, then the whole painted to resemble chinaware. The "earthenware" is natural in appearance, but in reality is carved of wood, and realistically painted. Hair-line decorations appear on the cups and a miniature painting on the pitcher. On the "stone" wall at the rear, hang two copper candlebras, complete with the smallest of candles, made of wood.

A colonial type of butter churn appears as though made of earthenware. An arm chair before the fire-place, lace curtains at the door, all make for cozy appearance. And each visitor marvels at the "hard-ware" on the doors—so delicately cut, yet so natural in appearance.

Get the "in-the-ways" out of the way the Want Ad way.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Credentials Committee

Washington, June 14. IN any such fight as has now developed among both the Democrats and Republicans it would be a mistake to leave out of consideration the extraordinary power of the credentials committees in the national conventions. More than once in the history of both parties its action has determined the nominee. In some ways it is more important than the resolutions committee, the chairman of which writes the platform. In naming Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, for that post, the Republicans could hardly have made a better selection.

THE function of the credentials committee is to pass upon the credentials of all the delegates chosen by the states and territories. Its head is named by the chairman of the National Committee, who also sets up a preliminary committee of one man and one woman from each. This committee begins examination of charges and hearing of contested delegations before the convention assemblies. After the selection of the temporary chairman, also designated by the National Committee, the first work of the convention is to regularize the preliminary credentials committee. Then it creates the resolutions committee, charged with the job of framing the party platform.

THEN it considers the report of the credentials committee. In almost every case the committee's report is ratified by the convention. Until that is done the convention is simply not organized. Often there is a bitter fight in the committee and sometimes this fight is carried to the convention floor. But this is rare, and almost always the report of the committee's majority is accepted. What this means, of course, is that in the case of a contest it is the credentials committee which seats or unseats.

THE theory is that the credentials committee decides the contests that come before it strictly on their merits and after an impartial investigation of the facts. The truth is that in most cases—and in both parties—the committee's decisions are flavored by the political predilections and preferences of its chairman and the majority which he almost always controls. Few observers who ever saw a national convention in action will dispute this. It is natural and inevitable. It is expected and accepted.

THIS being the case, it is easy to understand the advantage credentials committee friendliness can give to any aspirant for the presidential nomination in a close fight. The seating of supporting delegates and the unseating of hostile ones easily may affect vital votes in the convention. Certainly it has done so on a number of occasions. Perhaps the most notable example in recent years was in the 1932 Democratic Convention at Chicago, when the late Mr. Roosevelt was first nominated. Through control of the National Committee, the Roosevelt forces were able to organize that convention, selecting the temporary and permanent chairmen and dictating the heads of the resolutions and credentials committees.

A NUMBER of contests developed before the latter, all of which were decided in favor of the Roosevelt forces. The most conspicuous was the contesting delegation from Louisiana, which challenged the late Senator Huey Long and his delegates. The decision in this case was an open scandal. The contesting delegation not only was composed of the most distinguished citizens of the State but the evidence of fraud and corruption which they presented was overwhelming and convincing. Yet, the committee seated the Long delegation. Some of those who voted with the majority came out privately saying that they were ashamed of what they had helped do. A vote that there was no help for it. A vote to unseat the Long delegation would have been a vote against Roosevelt which might have meant his defeat. As a matter of fact, the Long delegation was a pillar of support to Mr. Roosevelt when the balloting began. Next to the California deal, by which Mr. Garner became the vice presidential nominee, it contributed more to the Roosevelt nomination than any other convention factor.

THERE may be no comparable contest before the credentials committees in the coming conventions but there are sure to be some. On the Republican side there will be at least one contest among the Southern States—and probably more. And no matter where they are from nor what are the contest grounds, the odds are heavy that every contest will be decided in the time-honored way—according to the candidatorial affiliations of the chairman. To some extent the credentials committee is always a packed committee and to some extent it always has a chance to do a little packing of the convention.

USUALLY, these committees operate in executive sessions, though sometimes their hearings are open. They attract relatively little publicity, being overshadowed by the contending presidential aspirants and the various more spectacular and interesting things that go on. Nevertheless, in anything approximately close in the way of a fight, experienced men will keep their eyes on the credentials committees. What they do in their executive sessions can be significant of what the convention will do in the open. In this respect the coming conventions will be no different from preceding ones.

Pupils Present Final Assembly For The Term

Wood street school pupils, faculty and parents enjoyed their last assembly program for the school year Friday morning. These weekly assembly programs are directed by the Wood street teachers, with a different grade producing a program each week. However, Friday's affair was the annual variety program in which the children performed for the most part in the skills they have developed outside of school time.

The program opened with a Bible reading by the principal, Miss Jane Rogers, and was followed by the Lord's Prayer and salute to the flag. The students and audience joined in singing "God is Love," "Heralds of Spring" and "America." The numbers: Piano solo, "Tide Ranger, Ride," "Betty" Brandt; violin solo, "French Folk Dance," Marie Rich; piano solo, "Judy and Bill," Janet Herman; rhythm band numbers, "Ratapan" and "Shadows," first grade pupils conducted by first grader Margaret Hanson (these pupils trained by Miss Clara King); dramatization of song "Old King Cole" by 13 pupils of grade two, with solo part of King Cole by James Jones; fiddlers, Mary Jane Vattimo, Nina Bertolami, "Judy" Marino; harpers, Pauline Knowles, Martha Taylor, Patricia Conti; pipers, Violet Lattanzi, Marlene Keller, Rose Marie Bersani; drummers, Charles Taylor, Samuel Cummings, Robert Wilson.

Piano solo, "Now is the Hour," Paul Davis; trumpet solo, "Four-Leaf Clover," Luca Antonelli; piano number, "Swanee River Suite," Donald Windus; Mexican tap dance, "Betty" Brandt.

Members of the local cadet groups gave the program a military finale. They played several of their bugle calls and did some marching as well as leading the children's out of the auditorium. Drummer was Marvin Bell, Buglers were Angelo Pizulla, Fred Santa Maria and Sam Fenton. All the boys are from fifth grade.

Paul Davis played the march for the children as they entered the assembly room; Miss Clara King accompanied the group singing; and Mrs. Ethel Kartz, elementary music supervisor, led the singing and accompanied the various instrumental and dance solos.

District Attorney Asks For Supreme Penalty for Darcy

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, representing the people of Bucks County, thinks you will have absolutely no trouble in finding the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree. I challenge the defendant to show any mitigating circumstances whatsoever. And we argue that the supreme penalty should be paid. This crime was atrocious and vicious. It was a series of crimes definitely well-conceived and well-planned. They (the bandits) were cruel and desperate. The only reason Darcy didn't kill Wuensch was because he was a poor shot. The responsibility is yours now. Decide it on the facts and not on emotions. There is only one penalty for you to decide and that is the penalty of death."

A five minute recess was declared at about 11 o'clock, before Defense Attorney Webster S. Achey sums his case. The charge to the jury was expected to be given early this afternoon.

Pupils Present Final Assembly For The Term

Wood street school pupils, faculty and parents enjoyed their last assembly program for the school year Friday morning. These weekly assembly programs are directed by the Wood street teachers, with a different grade producing a program each week. However, Friday's affair was the annual variety program in which the children performed for the most part in the skills they have developed outside of school time.

The program opened with a Bible reading by the principal, Miss Jane Rogers, and was followed by the Lord's Prayer and salute to the flag. The students and audience joined in singing "God Is Love," "Heralds of Spring" and "America." The numbers: Piano solo, "Ride Ranger, Ride," "Betty" Brandt, violin solo, "French Folk Dance," Marie Rich; piano solo, "Judy and Bill," Janet Herman; rhythm band numbers, "Rataplán" and "Shadows," first grade pupils conducted by first grader Margaret Hanson (these pupils trained by Miss Clara King); dramatization of song "Old King Cole" by 13 pupils of grade two, with solo part of King Cole by James Jones; fiddlers, Mary Jane Vattimo, Nina Bertolami, "Judy" Marino; harpers, Pauline Knowles, Martha Taylor, Patricia Conti; pipers, Violet Lattanzi, Marlene Keller, Rose Marie Bersani; drummers, Charles Taylor, Samuel Cummings, Robert Wilson.

Piano solo, "Now is the Hour," Paul Davis; trumpet solo, "Four Leaf Clover," Luca Antonelli; piano number, "Swanee River Suite," Donald Windus; Mexican tap dance, "Betty" Brandt.

Members of the local cadet groups gave the program a military finale. They played several of their bugle calls and did some marching as well as leading the children's out of the auditorium. Drummer was Marvin Bell, Buglers were Angelo Pizzulla, Fred Santa Maria and Sam Fenton. All the boys are from fifth grade.

Paul Davis played the march for the children as they entered the assembly room; Miss Clara King accompanied the group singing; and Mrs. Ethel Kartz, elementary music supervisor, led the singing and accompanied the various instrumental and dance solos.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, representing the people of Bucks County, thinks you will have absolutely no trouble in finding the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree. I challenge the defendant to show any mitigating circumstances whatsoever. And we argue that the supreme penalty should be paid. This crime was atrocious and vicious. It was a series of crimes definitely well-conceived and well-planned. They (the bandits) were cruel and desperate. The only reason Darcy didn't kill Wuenach was because he was a poor shot. The responsibility is yours now. Decide it on the facts and not on emotions. There is only one penalty for you to decide and that is the penalty of death.

A five minute recess was declared at about 11 o'clock, before Defense Attorney Webster S. Achey sums his case. The charge to the jury was expected to be given early this afternoon.

WOMAN FOREMAN 'SCARED'

MATTOON, Ill., June 10 (INS)—After a court trial, Mrs. Daley J. Barger of Trilla, was informed that she had been the first woman jury foreman in Cook county courts. Her sole comment was: "Gee, if I'd known that I would have been more scared than I was."

ANDALUSIA

Jack Kidd, U. S. Navy, Corpus Christie, Texas, is spending a leave with Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kidd. Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Eisenhart and children, Wilmet and Ruth, have moved from Poquessing avenue to Philadelphia.

Charles Osterman and Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Bracklin, attended the state convention of Lions clubs at Reading, on Tuesday. Mr. Osterman and Mr. Bracklin were delegates from the Andalusia Lions club.

On Tuesday, William Salus, deputy district governor and secretary of the Tacony-Mayfair Lions club, which club was sponsor of Andalusia club, was elected governor of district 14-A.

On Tuesday evening, several members of the Andalusia Lions club were guests of the Philadelphia Electric Company, on a tour of inspection of the new South-wark plant at Port Richmond. A ham dinner was served.

Richard F. Bracklin Jr., entertained several friends at a party on Thursday afternoon, in honor of his fifth birthday anniversary. Ice cream, cake and cookies were served to Virginia Bennett, Lee Jackson, Mary and "Judy" Hodgson, Beverly Radeski, Joan and Gloria Robinson, Carol and Barbara Veehan, James and John Brown, Thomas and James McCarty, Lawrence Freas, Dennis Erbrick. The children spent the afternoon playing games.

The Mother's Chalet Auxiliary held its monthly meeting last week at the home of Mrs. Marion Rupp. 18 attending. Discussion centered on the fact that the Scouts have no place to meet during the summer months, inasmuch as their former meeting place, the Andalusia school, is closed for the summer. Mrs. Paul Dean was welcomed as a new member as was Mrs. Edna Ferguson. Several members, who have made their quota of $10 through various activities, turned their money in at this time. They are Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Hughes and way the Want Ad way.

Mrs. Kieffer. Plans were completed for a dessert card party to be held in the Union Fire Co. station June 16, at 12:30 p. m. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James Doneker.

Only two weeks time was required by Mr. Ahler to complete the replica. The admirer of the work cannot help but marvel at the attractive setting in a mahogany case. The floor is carved of wood and painted to imitate bricks; while the ceiling is mahogany, with pegged beams just as they appear in the original. The eye is quickly attracted to the fire place, blackened as though from many a friendly fire (in fact a blaze burns beneath the tiny logs). And over the fire on a crane, swings a metal pot and a copper tea kettle. So true to type do these items run that the crane actually swings, and the handle on the tea-kettle moves back and forth.

A rectangular table is set with the tiniest of cups and saucers, pitcher and other items. So small are the cups, that metal the thickness of a straight pin was used for handles, then the whole painted to resemble china-ware. The "earthen-ware" is natural in appearance, but in reality is carved of wood, and realistically painted. Hair-line decorations appear on the cups and a miniature painting on the pitcher.

On the "stone" wall at the rear, hang two copper candleabras, complete with the smallest of candles, made of wood.

A colonial type of butter churn appears as though made of earthenware. An arm chair before the fire-place, lace curtains at the door, all make for cozy appearance. And each visitor marvels at the "hard-ware" on the doors—so delicately cut, yet so natural in appearance.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Credentials Committee

Washington, June 14. IN any such fight as has now developed among both the Democrats and Republicans it would be a mistake to leave out of consideration the extraordinary power of the credentials committees in the national conventions. More than once in the history of both parties its action has determined the nominee. In some ways it is more important than the resolutions committee, the chairman of which writes the platform. In naming Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, for that post, the Republicans could hardly have made a better selection.

THE function of the credentials committee is to pass upon the credentials of all the delegates chosen by the states and territories. Its head is named by the chairman of the National Committee, who also sets up a preliminary committee of one man and one woman from each. This committee begins examination of charges and hearing of contested delegations before the convention assembles. After the selection of the temporary chairman, also designated by the National Committee, the first work of the convention is to regularize the preliminary credentials committee. Then it creates the resolutions committee, charged with the job of framing the party platform.

THEN it considers the report of the credentials committee. In almost every case the committee's report is ratified by the convention. Until that is done the convention is simply not organized. Often there is a bitter fight in the committee and sometimes this fight is carried to the convention floor. But this is rare, and almost always the report of the committee's majority is accepted. What this means, of course, is that in the case of a contest it is the credentials committee which seats or unseats.

THE theory is that the credentials committee decides the contest-

Devices that warn motorists are designed to call attention to a special hazard or condition where extra caution and alertness is necessary. Devices that have this warning function include the flashing yellow traffic light, the curve sign, the crossroads sign, the painted center line of no-passing zones, and pavement markings in advance of points of hazard.

COPY SIGNALS—STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN BEFORE CROSSING

Devices that guide motorists include "destination" signs for motorists travelling between cities, signs giving specific directions for vehicles in complex intersections, and lane and turn-control pavement markings.

It is important that traffic control devices conform to nationally recognized standards so that they can be understood at a glance by motorists and pedestrians. Considerable progress has been made in this during the past ten years. The recommended shape, color and size for the various types of signs are:

Regulatory signs—white vertical rectangle with black lettering; Warning signs—diamond-shaped, yellow with black lettering; Single out for special treatment are "stop" signs and railroad advance warning signs. Both are yellow with black lettering; but the stop sign is six-sided, and the railroad warning sign is round. Guide and information signs—horizontal rectangles with black lettering.

Obviously it is important to have enough signs, signals and markers, strategically placed at the needed spots. Every citizen can help by seeing that the traffic authorities are given adequate budgets to install and maintain proper systems of traffic control devices. Our street systems of the future will all have separate intersections, smoothly curved highways and depressed parkways which will make many of our present-day traffic controls unnecessary. Some of us may live to see that day. Certainly more of us will, in the meantime—as motorists and pedestrians—we treat each sign and signal with as much respect as though it were the law itself. Because it is!

association with nearly 200 American schools, which have become affiliated with similar schools in Holland, France, Italy and Germany for the exchange of correspondence and gifts and for the cultivation of international friendship. The Overseas committee, Boston, Mass., headed by Dr. Alfred E. Stearns, is merging with the School Affiliation Service of the American Friends Service committee, it was said.

At the "ground-breaking" exercises at the site of the new building which followed the regular graduation ceremonies in the outdoor auditorium, the building's donor, Howard T. Halliwell, a student at George School in its second year (1894); Dr. George A. Walton, principal, and Charles K. Halliwell, for the committee, spoke briefly after which each turned a spadeful of earth, as did Edward Boyer and Betsy Clark, president and secretary of the senior class, representing the student body. Robb Taylor rendered a cornet solo as the concluding number of the program.

Following these exercises luncheon was served on the campus to about 1000 school guests, parents and friends of the graduating class.

Mrs. Protzman is a graduate of Friends Select School, Philadelphia, class of 1941. Mr. Protzman is a graduate of Oberlin College, Ohio, class of 1941, and Ohio State College, class of 1942.

O Father of mercies, whose compassion is boundless we beseech Thee to consider our frail and insecure lives, and to forgive us our neglect of Thee. Teach us that sin is really ignoring Thyne offer of help in time of need, love in time of hatred, strength in time of weakness. Be merciful unto us, even though we forget Thee, and help us to realize Thy presence, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The guest speaker was Mr. William Hadden, of George School, Newtown, and Mr. Dudley Bell, Radcliffe street, read the marriage certificate.

The bride was costumed in a rich portrait floor-length gown of white organdy and eyelet. She wore for her headpiece a halo of white daisies, and carried a small bouquet of white daisies and ivy.

The maid of honor, Miss M. Elizabeth Hagenbuch, of Langhorne, was attired in a mauve toned, organdy and eyelet, floor-length gown, fashioned like that of the bride. She wore a halo of yellow daisies and carried a small bouquet of yellow daisies and ivy.

Mr. Paul Carpenter, Ann Arbor, Mich., served Mr. Protzman as best man, while the ushers were Mr. Eugene Burroughs and Mr. Ralph Payne, both of Radcliffe street.

A small reception followed at the meeting house.

Mr. and Mrs. Protzman left for a honeymoon at a southern New Jersey resort. They will take up residence in Columbus, O.

Mrs. Protzman is a graduate of Friends Select School, Philadelphia, class of 1941. Mr. Protzman is a graduate of Oberlin College, Ohio, class of 1941, and Ohio State College, class of 1942.

LANGHORNE LEGION NOW IN DEADLOCK FOR THIRD PLACE

LANGHORNE, June 14 — Ira Smith's Langhorne Legion nine moved into a deadlock for third place in the Bristol Suburban League as it walloped the Democrat Club, 12-4, yesterday afternoon on Playwickie field. It was the third straight win for the Legionnaires.

The Legionnaires socked "Joe" Sagolia for 17 hits and these added to the 25 made Friday evening gave the Langhorne team a total of 42 hits and 38 runs for two games.

Dale Miller, "Jim" Egli, and Joe Jenkins contributed three hits each in the Langhorne win while Fizzano, Schneider, and Keen chipped in with two each. Both of Keen's blows were two-baggers and seven of the 17 hits were for extra bases. Langhorne scored in every inning except the seventh although they had two runners on base when the third out was made.

The former Langhorne High twirler, Al Knox, served time for the winners and although solved for 16 hits kept them scattered enough to escape serious trouble. He had seven strikeouts but his wildness caused him plenty of headaches as he passed five batters and hit another.

RAIN HALTS GAME IN YOUTH LEAGUE

The games of the Bristol Youth League, scheduled for yesterday, were called off because of rain. The Hibernians and Newportville attempted to play but with the Hibs leading 8-5 in the last half of the fifth, a downpour caused the tilt to be called. Had the Hibernians retired two more batters, it would have meant a victory.

The games of the Bristol Suburban League scheduled to be played on Memorial Park field and Third Ward field were also called. The Hibernians-Goodwill game will be played this evening on Leedom's field.

DODDS TAKES FIRST PLACE IN DUSTER RACE

The local duster skippers once again took to the river yesterday when two races were held at the Lakanoon Boat Club on Burlington.

By far the best sailing day of the season, a moderate southerly wind gave the boats all the air necessary for a fine afternoon of racing. Although a few scattered raindrops were falling, the first race was started at 1:45 p. m. Completing the 2½-mile course in 41 minutes, 28 seconds, to take first place, was "Gismo's Pup," skippered by John Dodds. Second place went to Pete Ross, sailing "Umby," while "Snafu," sailed by John Cherubini, took third place.

The starting gun for the second race was fired at 2 p. m. This time "Snafu," again piloted by John Cherubini, was the victor, covering the course in 40 minutes, 3 seconds. Cliff LaHar gained second place with "War Baby," and third place was taken by John Dodds in "Gismo's Pup."

JUNIOR LEGION NINE HAS A BUSY WEEK

The Bristol Junior Legion team, victorious in its initial contest last Wednesday against Newtown, will have a busy home schedule this week. This evening the team will play the Quakertown Legion on the Third Ward field. Wednesday evening Della's lads play Morrisville, and Saturday, the contingent will cross bats with Doylestown. The first two games will begin at six o'clock, while Saturday's contest is listed for 2:30 o'clock.

Quakertown is composed mostly of players from the Quakertown High School, which won the Buxmont High School League this season. Manager Della will throw in "Dack" Harmon against the visitors, with "Bill" MacSherry behind the plate.

CULTURAL VISIT

BARCELONA, June 10 (INS)—Five hundred United States students are scheduled to come to Spain this summer to take a special course in western culture and to conduct scientific research excursions in Catalonia. During their two-month stay, the students will be looked after by the Institute of Hispanic Studies.

PRESBYTERIANS STOP ST. LUKE'S STREAK OF 6 WINS

St. Luke's six-game winning streak came to an abrupt end against Presbyterian when Johnny Jones pitched a brilliant three-hit game to turn back the league leaders by a 5-2 score on the Killian field. Jones and Wally Wurthman of St. Luke's hooked up in a hurling duel with the latter holding a 2-1 edge going into the final frame. But then hits by Gerlach, M. Walters, DeWilde and Fischer mixed with a couple of St. Luke's miscues added up to a quartet of big markers for Presbyterian who thereby sewed up the decision and St. Luke's went down to its first defeat of the season after six straight triumphs. As a result of the loss, St. Luke's had one game shaved off its league leadership.

But they gained half of that back when they came up with a four-run rally of their own in the last inning to turn a pitchers' duel into a 6-1 victory over Bristol Methodist. In this contest it was just too much for Ery Weirich for Methodist to solve. He held the opposition to just four hits and always hit the "stuff" in the pinch to throttle any impending rallies. The Lutherans hurler lost a shut-out only because Fritz Bartholomae failed to come up with an attempted shoe-string catch of George Molden's first inning liner, which bounded past St. Luke's left fielder and went for a home run.

Bristol Methodist also dropped a tough one to Calvary Baptist who turned a 3-2 deficit into a 7-3 advantage with a "big five" in the sixth inning with the aid of a timely two-run triple by Harry Erny mixed with some faulty fielding on the part of the Methodists. The ultimate losers rallied for one run in the seventh, but finally lost out, 7-4.

However, the Methodist club salvaged one game of its three-game slate when they eked out a 6-5 win over Hulmeville in a thrilling battle at Hulmeville. Hulmeville got off to a 3-0 lead in the opening stanza, a lead which was shaved by two runs in the latter half of the same frame by Methodist. They tied the score at 3-3 in the third, then pushed over a pair in the sixth, only to have Hulmeville knot the score in the seventh with a duet of markers they pushed over. But in the last of the seventh George Molden doubled and scored on Dowd's solid single to left with two down.

Bensalem Methodist was awarded a 7-0 forfeit victory over First Baptist when the latter club failed to show up for their scheduled game on Thursday evening. The victory pulled Bensalem on even terms with St. James' for fourth place, each having a 3-3 record on the season to date. St. James' and Church of Our Saviour didn't play last week as all games were washed out Monday night and no games were played on Tuesday.

PROTECTS PARENTS

WACO, Tex., June 10 (INS)—Parents recently got a kind word from Dallas Police Chief Carl Hansson. Mr. Hansson, speaking before 300 members of the Waco Rotary club, said that it has become "fashionable" to lay all the blame of juvenile delinquency in the home. The police chief said he believed too many external factors — such as glorified crime stories on the radio, in the movies, and in literature — are the basic factors in delinquency today.

ST. FRANCIS SCHOOL ENDS ITS SEASON WITH A VICTORY

EDDINGTON, June 14 — The St. Francis Vocational School team closed its season yesterday afternoon with a close 6-5 triumph over the Hilltop team. "Johnny" Lavin won his own game in the seventh inning with a single.

The St. Francis boys were trailing, 5-4, in their last turn with the stick when Connolly tagged "Walt" Frederick for a single. He then stole second and went to third on Moore's hit. Moore went to second un molested and both runners crossed on Lavin's hit.

The St. Francis pitcher struck out 15 while Frederick and McCarry had nine strikeouts for the losing team.
